

Women's History Month

By Zoe Alcause

Women's History month is a month dedicated to the contributions made by women to United States history. It starts from March 1st, to the end of March. It was made in 1980, when President Jimmy Carter signed a proclamation saying March 2-8, 1980, as Women's History Week, but a week grew into a month by Congress in 1987. The origins of Women's History Month, though started back in 1978 in Santa Rosa, California where a group of women started their own Women's History celebration. Happy Women's History Month!

Broken Glass Slides

By Sevan B.

Recently around Livermore, many slides at playgrounds have been found to have broken glass shards. Thankfully no kids have been hurt in Livermore so far, but there are reports of toddlers and younger kids in other cities going down these slides and injuring themselves. Participating in these actions is not okay and has hurt little kids before. If you find glass in any slides, please do not clean it up yourself and instead report it to the police.

Daylight Savings

By Logan Kubiak

Daylight savings time starts on March 12th this year. At 2:00 clocks will be turned an hour forward and on November 5th the clocks will be turned back an hour. The reason we have daylight savings time is to maximize sunlight in the Northern Hemisphere. Hawaii and Arizona don't participate in daylight savings. Many credit Benjamin Franklin for daylight saving time, thanks to a possibly satirical letter he penned for the Journal de Paris in 1784.

Pi Day

By Jacki

On March 14th every year, people around the world celebrate the mathematical constant π . It's celebrated on that day because March is the third month of the year, and 3.14 are the first three letters in pi. Initially, the pi symbol originated from the Greek language. Some pi day traditions are eating pie, and discussing the relevance of the number π . In 212-287 BC, one of the greatest mathematicians first calculated pi. Today, π is known to have about 100 trillion numbers or digits; the 100 trillionth digit is zero. Make sure that on March 14th you do the main tradition, and eat some pie.

Snow in Livermore

By Ava

A few weeks ago, as you might have seen, it was raining heavily, but also, it snowed in the hills and mountains of Livermore. The weather was extremely cold, reaching at least 20 degrees when the snow fell last week. It was not just in the Livermore hills and mountains, it was in Greenville, the Sierra Nevada mountains, and also on Mt. Diablo. Places in town like Del Valle were washed out and closed from the snow and rain. People like to do fun things like do puzzles, play video games, build Legos, and many other things when it is raining. The weather is planned to clear up in middle or late March. The weather also has been changing rather quickly too. Sometimes it is sunny, and sometimes it is pouring. Also, on February 27th, it even snowed at school at first lunch before it started raining and flooding later that lunch. People like to get soaked, but just a little reminder, if you do you can not go to the office or go home. The teachers and staff would appreciate it if you stay dry, and still have fun. The snow looks very pretty, and also it has not snowed here since 1930! This has been a 93 year difference and it has made a big deal to the weather. It will still be cold and wet and rainy, but stay as warm and dry as you can!

Yeat's New Album AFTËRLYFE

By Ernesto Morales

If you haven't noticed there was a new album released by Yeat who is a American rapper. He released the album titled "AfterLyfe". Which was hyped on the app known as, "Tik Tok" with many posting about it even before it's release. As the days went down on the date of release more and more people were excited until the date. Then it was released one anticipated Friday. On February 24 2023, the anticipated album was released to the public. At first before it's released there was a rumor on Tik Tok that the song "How It Go" would contain a voiceline from a game known as "Talking Ben" which turned out to be not true. When the album released it was pretty negative compared to how it was before it's release most people were mad about the voiceline not making it into the song and only a few songs were hitters, and others did not do as well. By the way Lyfe was better.

Chinese Balloon

By Sean Clark

On January 28th, 2023, multiple Chinese spy balloons, were caught flying above special military bases. All of the balloons were shot down by fighter jets and had their remains collected to examine. China claims that the balloons were simply weather balloons and were just harvesting data for weather channels. When the remains of the balloons were found the balloons contained several computers and other electronic devices.

Start of MLS Season

By Louis Ulmer

The MLS (Major League Soccer) season for 2023 just started on February 25. Last season LAFC (Los Angeles Football Club) won on penalties. There are 29 teams in the MLS this season, with the nearest team to us being the San Jose Earthquakes.

Last season the Earthquakes came in last in their conference, but hopefully, they'll do better this season. With the next World Cup being in North America, the MLS is bigger than ever this season.

Kyle Busch's Redemption Story

By Brayden Kreitzman

Kyle Busch is one of the most successful NASCAR drivers in it's 75 year history, and for the majority of his career, 14 years, he drove for Joe Gibbs Racing. Unfortunately, after 2022, the team would cut him after failing to lock down a year-long sponsorship deal.

Having to find a new team, Kyle Busch joined Richard Childress Racing late last year, and despite leading toward the end of the race, he would finish a mediocre 19th in his first race with them, the Daytona 500.

The next week, at Auto Club Speedway, he would qualify in 21st. Not too many were hopeful for him, but he would storm to the front very quickly, and managed to stay towards the front all day. It wouldn't be until around 50 remaining when he would find the lead, but when he did, he was unstoppable.

He led the field to the finish, breaking a record for the most consecutive seasons with a win, 18, and for the first time in his illustrious career, was cheered by the fans who used to think of him as a villain.

NCS Champion

By Emmie Visaya

Livermore High School is notorious for its Wrestling team, and a high school freshman has just reminded the wrestling world why. A first-year high school student, (Name not disclosed) has managed to place 8th overall in the Northern California Sector's tournament. Xavier Williams, an assistant coach for the LHS says that he shows promise. Micheal Visaya, speculates that the wrestler now has the potential to be one of the few people to be a four-time NCS Champion, Champion all four years of high school. If he can manage this, he will join the ranks of Mark Kavanaugh.

Livermore is famed for its wrestlers, who manage to be the first in the state to do many things, such as Mark and, Emma Kavanaugh, the first Father/Daughter to reach NCS Champions. Good luck to this wrestler at state!

Athlete Of The Month

By Emmie Visaya

Allison Bankston, is a 7th-grade girl who just made the the 2023 East girls' volleyball team. She has been playing on multiple teams for about two years and thoroughly enjoys it. She hopes playing on the EAMS Team will cause her to improve her game and allow her to socialize more. Before a game, she normally drinks coffee to help her stay alert. She was brought into Volleyball because she enjoys the aggression of the game. Her favorite move is serving because it starts off the game and sets the mood. Good luck this season, Allison!!
